

Apprenticeship as IT system administrator (f/m/x)

Description

For over 25 years we have been implementing complex, tailor-made and future-oriented IT solutions for medium-sized companies. Our philosophy: IT should simply work. We currently support around 400 customers, 3,500 servers and 17,000 workstations.

You want to work for a company that gives you the space to develop and grow with your tasks? Then you should decide for our company abass. Here you can demonstrate your communication skills, your keen sense of technology and your passion for customer service and support. As an apprentice, we will involve you in IT projects from the very beginning.

For you – what abass offers

- Practice-oriented three-year training, a reduction of six months is possible
- Attractive, annually increasing training allowance
- Intensive support during your training period by experienced employees
- Free drinks, fresh fruit, lunch, health care, subsidised company pension
- Flat hierarchies, short decision-making processes, and the opportunity for individual development
- Very good chance of being taken on in a permanent position after your training

For us – these are your tasks

- During your training you will be part of our commercial department and learn basic tasks in the areas of hardware procurement and software integration
- We train you so that you can act as a central contact person for our customers
- You will gain the know-how to be able to independently analyse customer requirements and develop IT solutions in the future
- You support the coordination between customers and our experts
- You will assist our customers in advising them on IT topics and our sales department in preparing individual, tailor-made offers

For the future – you bring that with you

- Secondary school leaving certificate or (technical) university entrance qualification
- Fun at work with computers, first experiences with networks
- Initiative, flexibility and the willingness to take responsibility
- Good knowledge of Microsoft Office and Internet skills
- Enjoy teamwork and the ability to solve problems independently
- Open-minded, friendly personality
- Good knowledge of German and English
- Class B driving licence
